

Paris, 13th October 2015

The aim of the ROHS directive is to avoid the discard and the dispersion of hazardous substances in the environment from electric appliances.

The "lead bound in crystal glass" used for designing the crystal luminaires is consequently concerned.

We subscribe to the exemption request made by the concerned companies.

Crystal luminaires are fine and prestigious items which fits which contemporary design trends

Crystal luminaires allow unique design achievements, especially because of their refraction properties which are unmatched by standard glass.

When an crystal luminaire needs repairs, our clients bring it back to the shop or crystal manufacturer for repair.

Crystal luminaires are a key leverage for our notoriety and the notoriety of the European know-how and excellence.

A luminaire with our signature is transmitted or resold.

My company has a workforce of 6 employees.

Inhabited by a legacy for art nouveau, I refer not only to the universal character of nature to impose forms which make sense but in addition I state that the concept of total art is henceforth fundamental to contemporary creation
